

What Is It?

Core'dinations ColorCore Cardstock has a core color which “core’dinates” with the surface color. Each sheet has a tab underneath labeled “core color” that represents the interior color of the sheet. You can choose to keep that color hidden or add your own creative touch by sanding, tearing or embossing. Here are some specifics:

- A sandable cardstock that has a “core’dinating” core color instead of a white core
- Heavy weight, 80 lb., premium, acid and lignin free
- Sand, tear or antique it to reveal the beautiful core colors and add your own creative touch
- Canvas texture on one side and smooth on the other

Black Magic

Don't be fooled by the black surface. With a little sanding, tearing, or embossing, you can uncover the vivid core colors hidden beneath the texture. The beautiful color on the reverse side makes them perfect for cardmaking and photo matting. Try it and you'll see why we included Magic in the name.

The Chocolate Box

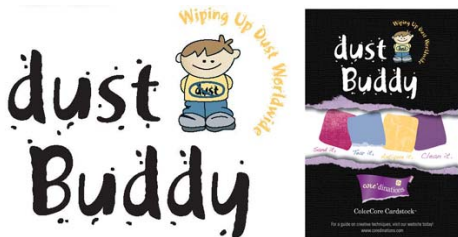

What a sweet treat... Sand, tear and emboss it to reveal the yummy colors hidden beneath the texture. color.

Vintage Collection

Using a special technique, we've "pre-sanded" these sheets to give you that vintage look without the work.

A stunning collection of colors under a white wash finish. Bring out the true beauty of this cardstock by sanding, tearing, and embossing the white wash finish to reveal the core color.
